John Gunther, the "Inside" man of the once select trade of foreign correspondent, died the other day. He had influenced kings, presidents and even Soviet premiers with his "inside" reports on everything from Russia to South America in 500 pages.

In his late 60s, Gunther had made a great deal of money, particularly for writers of his day, by travel and report diagrams of most any place in the world.

One of his peers was Vincent Sheean, an equally ubiquitous reporter, equally talented, Sheean, author of "Lead Kindly Light", a biography of Gandhi, and other books of his travels, once visited Columbia, Mo., on a speaking engagement at a local college, though not Mizzou.

I was one of a number of students who met Sheean at a breakfast in his honor in a suite at one of Columbia's hotels.

Sheean had just returned from a tour of South Africa, observing and writing of Mau-Mau insurrections, before Apartheid.

Since the breakfast was in the morning, a morning I had ROTC class, I was in uniform. A number of us sat or stood around eating eggs and toast and chatting with this world traveler, man of letters, etc. He had been a reporter for the Chicago Tribune before going free lance into the world. He had met the host of this breakfast years before 1953, in Ethiopia in the mid-30s when Mussolini "lionized" the country of the Lion of the Euphrates. Haile Selassie I, emperor of Ethiopia, who still is emperor.

We inquired of Sheean's view of the world, and he spoke of many things. His lecture at Stephens College the previous night was drawn from his travels.

He was talking of conditions in South Africa and the Mau Mau uprising when I noted the time and said I must leave for a class, which happened to be ROTC. The Korean War was still on officially, though much was at stalemate.

Looking at me and the uniform, Sheean shook hands and observed, some in jest and some for effect, "Well, bleed for us."

With "egg" on my face, I smiled and left. Later in the day, I wrote a story for Mizzou's daily, the substance of which surprised the faculty city editor. He sometime before evidenced displeasure at my independence. He acknowledged, however, that Sheean was news and printed it.

Television has taken most of the audience away from men like Sheean and Gunther, because correspondents narrate into a TV camera, sometimes via Telstar, and millions here see history daily on the 5:30 evening news.

These men were among the most enterprising and daring, at times, in the example of great reporters like Richard Harding Davis and courageous, folksy

Ernie Pyle, who stopped a machinegun bullet during a World War II South Pacific campaign.

So it doesn't require much humility for a journalism student to "rap" with a Sheean, as students now might say. Or a Gunther. Or an Edward R. Murrow. Or a Pyle. Even if somebody like that tenderizes you a little.

The example now is to "humanize" men of courage and ability in this or any field, to make sure everybody understands they are only men.

If this "new" generation of critics has enough audacity to equate themselves with this kind of man, they ought to know they lack in the comparison.

Belton Journal Editor Jim Russell, musing on the problems of electing candidates for the 1972 presidential race suggested:

"Presumably Nixon will be the Republican candidate for president in 1972, if we still have a country and still need a president. The Democrats are mentioning various possible candidates. One observer suggested the Democrats pick a candidate by lottery - with the loser getting the nomination."

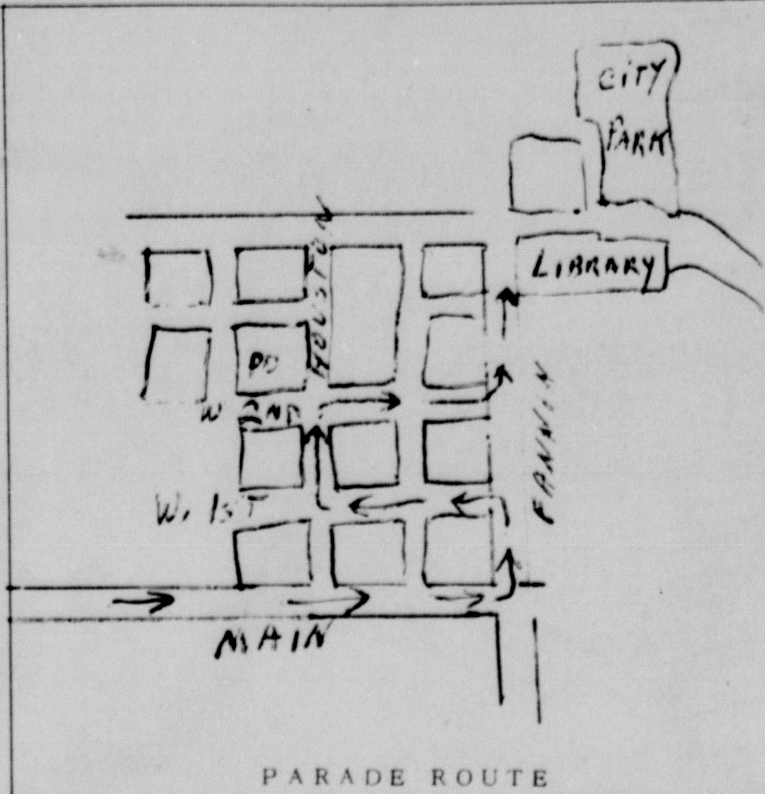

State Rep. Bob Salter of Coryell County, Charles Blake, administrative assistant to Cong. W. R. (Bob) Poage, and Cameron Postmaster Narvie Caperton met with Milam County Commissioners Court Monday to explain plans for a Regional Housing Authority.

Commissioners were asked to join Limestone, Freestone, Falls, Leon, Burleson and Robertson counties in forming a regional housing authority. Fifty houses have been constructed there and allocations for 1,300 more homes have been granted.

Rep. Slater said he had seen the plan in operation in Mississippi where "they are building standard brick-veneer homes that would be a fine addition to any community."

He explained the only responsibility of local county governments would be to call an open meeting to explain the plan and to appoint a local representative to the Regional Housing Authority. He emphasized there would be no cost to the county.

Salter said Limestone County had approved the plan and appointed a Housing Authority representative. Meetings have been set up with commissioners in the other five counties.

Blake said Cong. Poage endorsed the program and urged that planning start now before these funds are tied up by cities.

Blake related the drop in population for most Central Texas counties to a lack of standard housing and difficulties in locating new industries in the area because of limited financing for home construction.

Salter said the program carried less stringent qualifications for the buyer than Farmers Home Administration home loans.

FIRE DAMAGES HOUSE MONDAY

Fire heavily damaged a frame house at 402 S. Burleson Street Monday night and firemen fought to keep the blaze from spreading to a neighboring house.

Residents of the house were away from home when the fire started about 7 p.m., Cameron Volunteer Firemen said over half the house was burned when they answered the alarm.

He said all the housing would be individual homes in scattered locations. The houses could either be purchased outright or rented with the rent applying to equity when the individual bought the home.

"The Regional Housing Authority can not work within city limits without approval of the city and the existing city housing Authority," Salter said. "So there would be no duplication."

Salter said the Regional Housing Authorities in Mississippi worked with local real estate agents and lending institutions for land purchase and federally insured loans.

Salter said the "low income" formula was set on a national basis and would probably apply to a medium income, depending on family size, in this area.

County Judge O. B. Hardendelayed action on the proposal until Commissioner Albert Timmerman, absent because of illness, could meet with the court.

CISD Board To Meet

The Cameron School Board will meet at 8 p.m. Thursday, June 11, in the Superintendent's office at Ben Milam School. Included in the agenda is election of school personnel and opening of bids for the proposed Homemaking Cottage.

County OK's Officers Pay Raise

County Commissioners voted a pay raise for county officials, granted a 5 acre lease to the Milam County Junior Livestock Show and heard routine business in a meeting in the County Courtroom Monday morning.

Commissioners unanimously approved a $50 per month pay raise for the District Clerk, Sheriff, County Judge, County Clerk, County Tax Assessor-Collector, County Treasurer, County Attorney and County Commissioners. Constables were granted a $25 per month raise.

The pay raise is effective June 1.

Commissioners also granted a 30 year lease for five acres of land at West 16th and Karnes in Cameron to the Milam County Junior Livestock Show. The lease was made with the understanding that a permanent structure to house the annual show would be constructed on the property.

2-Day Festival Opens Friday

It's here -- the Folk Fete!

Plans and work that started nearly a year ago will culminate Friday and Saturday in a week-end festival in Cameron that will be remembered for years to come.

Last-minute details are being completed at a quickening pace for the crowds expected to swell the City's population during its first community-wide festival.

Tickets for four main events -- the Friday night program, tour of historical homes, garden party, and Saturday night program -- are on sale at area locations, and will be available at a special booth in City Park starting today.

Festival events start at 5 p.m. Friday with a teen band, "Age of Innocence" followed by Buffalo Angell and The Westerners at 6. They will play in the historic pavilion at the Park.

Don't cook supper Friday night -- choose barbecue or hot dogs; spaghetti or fried chicken; sausage sandwiches or enchiladas; sauerkraut and wieners or just fill up on kolaches and cake.

All these dishes and many more will be served at ethnic food booths in the Park.

At 8, follow the crowd to Yoe Athletic Field, where Vrazel's Polka Band will open the program. The Folk Fete Belles will be introduced.

Beauties from Buckholts, Thorndale, Milano, Rockdale, Hearne, and Cameron representing Czech, German, Italian, Negro, Western, and Mexican cultures will be presented, in a pageant.

Early Milam County history, 1745-1877, will be recalled in a historical pageant, with a cast of some 200 junior high students.

Gene Smitherman will be master of ceremonies for the Friday night program.

Friday's festival events will end with a dance at National Guard Armory.

SATURDAY

Scheduled for all day Saturday are an exhibit of art and sculpture and puppet shows in the Library; the ethnic food and display booths at City Park and on the Library lawn.

The parade starts at 10 a.m. in downtown Cameron and will end at the Library. Music at the Park will be by the teen and Western bands.

A pilgrimage of five historical homes will start at 10:30 a.m. and end at 2:30 p.m. The Belles will be assistant hostesses at the homes.

The Hilliard Thomas home will be the setting for the 3 p.m. garden party, then more music at City Park is scheduled at 5 and 6 p.m.

At 8 p.m. the folk dances start at Yoe Field, Czech, German, Negro, Mexican, Italian, and Western groups will perform folk and modern dances on a special platform, with music by Vrazel's Polka Band, Buffalo Angell and The Westerners, and the Funkadelics, among others.

'Cactus' Pryor, well-known Texas personality, will be master of ceremonies for the folk dances.

Two dances are planned to wind up the festival -- a Western dance at the Armory, and a teen dance at the Katakomb Teen Club, both lasting until 1 a.m.

Fete visitors will have a chance to keep up the spirit of festivity at dances Friday and Saturday nights following the programs at Yoe Field.

Scheduled are a polka band for Friday, and Western and Rock on Saturday night.

Vrazel's Polka Band will play for the Friday night dance at the National Guard Armory, scheduled from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. Admission will be $1 per person.

On Saturday night the "Age of Innocence" (formerly Spine Culture) will play for the teen dance at the Katakomb Teen Club. Hours are 10 p.m. until 1 a.m. and admission will be $1.25 per person.

Buffalo Angell and The Westerners will furnish music at the National Guard Armory for a dance Saturday night, following the program at Yoe Field. Admission will be $1 per person and the dance will end at 1 a.m.

The band will feature Johnny Farror, country - western recording artist. Farror has worked and recorded with George Jones and Ray Green.

Fete Foods To Spark Appetites

Many fine foods will be available Friday and Saturday at the City Park representing Western, Italian, German, Modern and Czech variations of the Folk Fete ethnic groups.

Food booths will be open Friday evening from 6 to 8 p.m. and all day Saturday beginning at 10 a.m.

Gelner's Smokehouse will be serving Western and Italian foods with barbecued beef, sausage, beans and potato salad, characteristic of the Western type; and Italian the traditional spaghetti with meat sauce.

Mrs. Manuel Thomas and Mrs. Dorothy Debose will be featuring a modern food booth with sure enough 'American' versions of fried chicken, barbecue, hamburgers and hot dogs.

The entire community of Mankville will be involved in the Czech booth with a spectacular arrangement of home made foods such as bread and kolaches, sausage sandwiches and plate lunches will also be available.

Quesadilla (tortillas topped with fried beans and cheese) enchiladas, beans, Mexican rice and tortillas will be served at the Mexican booth with Mrs. Felipe Martinez in charge.

St. Monica's Ladies will feature a German booth with main dish of sauerkraut and wieners (served in different ways) and featuring other German foods such as Kuchen (kolaches) and German chocolate cake.

Booths To Feature Many Items

Special booths featuring items from food to fabric painting will be open Saturday on the Cameron Public Library lawn, sponsored by civic and commercial groups.

The booths will include:
--Girl Scout Troops 314 and 387 featuring cookies and candy;

--Noon Lions Club selling "I Am An American And Proud Of It" bumper stickers and snowcones;

--Evening Lions Club selling American flags, brooms and mops;

--Business and Professional Women's Club, an assortment of handwork and bakery items;

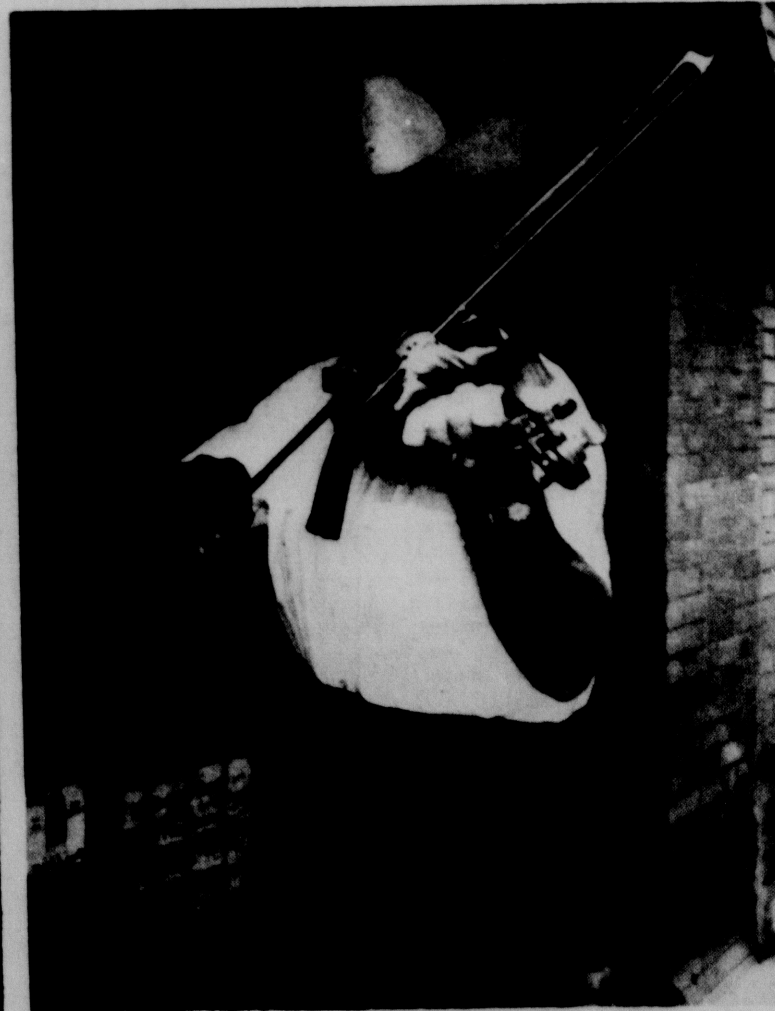

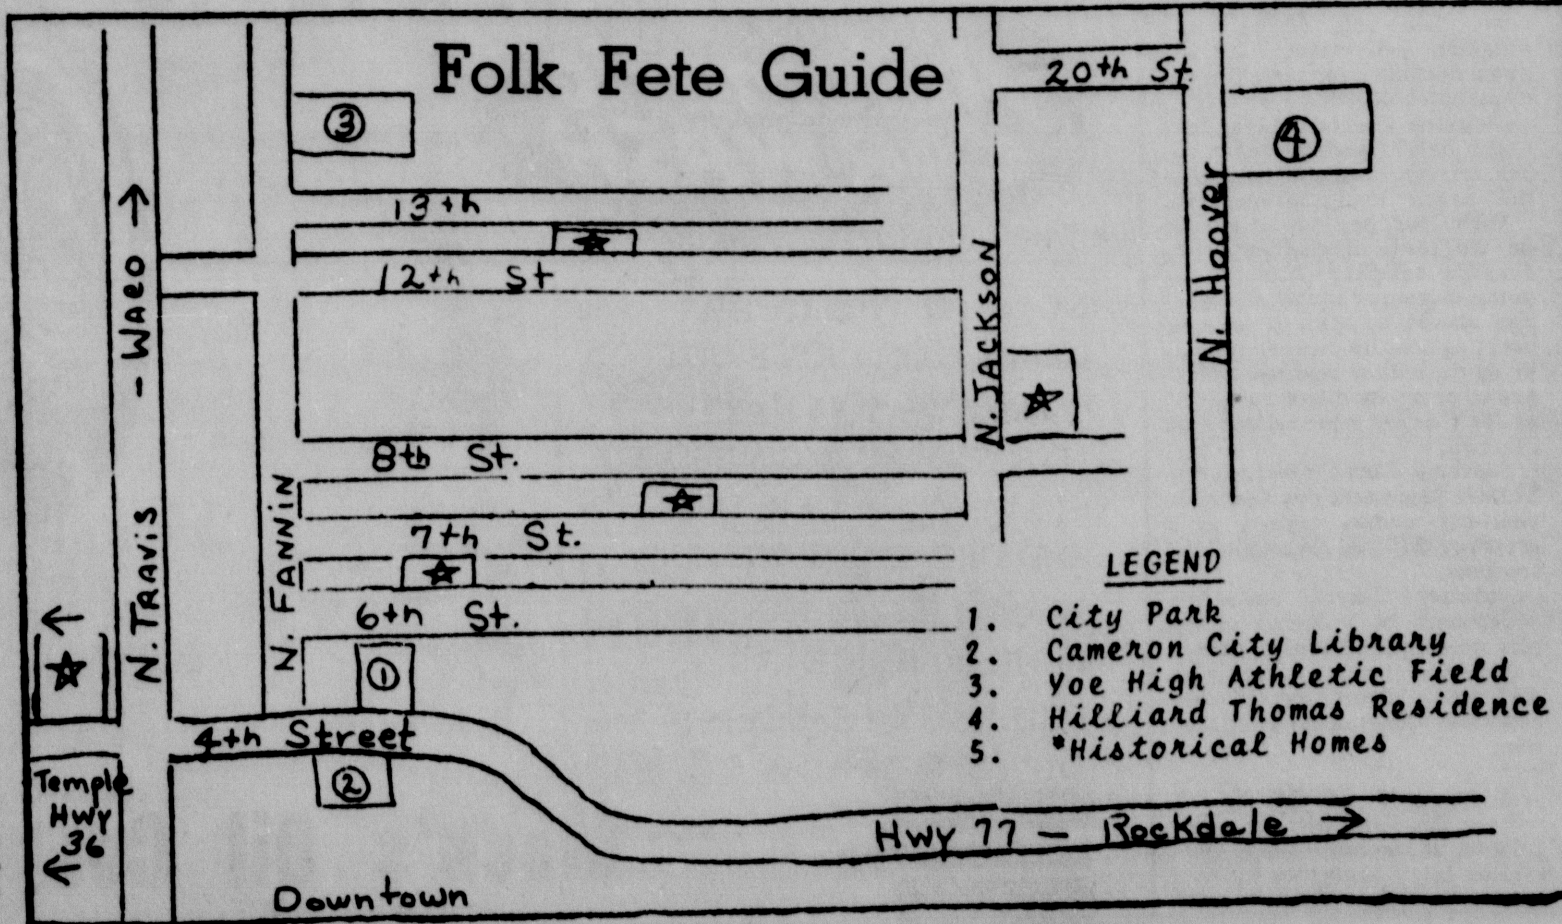

--Friends of the Library selling the Folk Fete brochures;

--Boy Scouts, cold drinks;

--Tri-Chem will demonstrate painting on velvet and other fine fabrics.

The booths will be open all day.

'BUFFALO' ANGELL and The Westerners will be featured performers Saturday at 6 p.m., City Park, instead of the Red River Valley Boys as previously announced in Folk Fete Plans. The Western group features recording artist Johnny Farror. They will also play for the folk dancers Saturday night at Yoe Field and for a dance at the Armory following the program.

Fete Proves Theory To Practice

Cultural Cameron, 1970...

The grand, leading principle, towards which every argument unfolded in these pages directly converges, is the absolute and essential importance of human development in its richest diversity.

--Wilhelm Von Humboldt

The sweeping concept of Von Humboldt's "Sphere and Duties of Government" is similar to what Cameron may well find possible in a cultural festival proposed for June, 1970.

Cameron and Milam County have diversity in people which in this day seeks fulfillment in allowing that diversity to establish similarities.

This is what America is all about; Long before a League of Nations or the United Nations, this United States grasped the potential of an enormous continent and peopled its frontiers with every ethnic and religious spectrum. Texas is no exception as exemplified by the scope of Milam's peoples.

A proposed cultural exposition, which could be named by a contest within Cameron schools, would show the diversity of Anglo-Saxon, Czech, German, Italian, Latin and Negro heritage met around Milam's borders.

The pageantry of ethnic folk dance, costume and custom would be a focal point of unusual possibility for such a Cameron undertaking.

The native song and dance of all these groups, residents of Milam County, tell what is almost an unparalleled story of people diversity in a substantially rural area now industrializing. Only metropolitan areas usually encompass this rich fabric of society within some common boundary.

The contrast of square dance, polka, schottische, cotillion waltz, tarrantella and hat dance, for example, would be dramatic while the colorful costumes would create a continuous fascination in such cultural expression.

A parade, a tour of historic Cameron homes, an art presentation at Cameron Public Library, a garden party made splendiferous by ante-bellum costume, the foods of all these peoples, their music and song would bring off the essential drama of Milam history, which dates from pre-Revolutionary times.

It is being planned. Commitments are being made for a full day in June, 1970 to combine the resources of this community for such a cultural extravaganza.

Consider the possibility for Milam and Central Texans for a first qualitative view of this heritage, and later the attraction for Texans whose interest in history and pageantry helped build a "Six Flags Over Texas", and attended the San Antonio "HemisFair."

Such possibility is enormous, again, for a town which, The Herald has already said, has taken "history by the hand and wrung more than a handshake from it."

"Low Down" FROM THE Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP

(A Column for Readers Who Haven't Time to Review the Congressional Record Daily)

LIFE MAGAZINE FAKED PHOTOS SAYS VA

Senator Robert J. Dole (Kansas) ... The May 22 issue of LIFE magazine carried a cover story on the care received by wounded Vietnam veterans in the hospitals operated by the Veterans Administration. The article, "Assignment to Neglect," ...

"I immediately contacted Donald E. Johnson, VA Administrator, to ascertain the viewpoint of the Veterans' Administration as to the accuracy and authenticity of the LIFE report. ... Today, I received Mr. Johnson's reply. (Excerpts follow)

May 21, 1970
Hon. Robert Dole, U.S. Senate, Washington, D.C.
From the obviously contrived cover page and the staged hospital photographs right down to every biting word of the all negative narrative, the article gives a totally distorted picture of the VA medical program.

The two photographs on the cover of LIFE tell a story of designed contrast that should be evident to every reader. The top photo -- in color -- shows happy and smiling servicemen during a moment of respite on the Cambodian front. The lower photo -- a dimly lit and grainy study in plain black and white -- depicts a VA patient POSED in an attitude of dejection.

The same unsmiling patient, who plays the leading critic role in the text of the article, crops up again in the lead photograph of the article. This is a shower room scene with the notation that the veteran "waits helplessly to be dried." Actually a hospital attendant ready to dry the patient promptly so as to not delay baths for other waiting wheelchair veterans was waved aside by the photographer until he could shoot his "helpless wait" picture.

Although patients in the enema room are really curtailed away from necessary disposal cans, there can be no denying that LIFE's "Trash Can" scene was more dramatic after the curtain was drawn and the cans suitably adjusted for the exposure.

There has never been a verifiable report of a ratee having been seen in the long history of the hospital. This is attested to by long-time employees as well as commercial exterminators who are called in periodically -- as they are in many large institutions -- to guard against the intrusion of mice.

Life staffers visited the Washington, D.C. VA Hospital on three occasions, talked freely to many patients, and shot scores of photographs. Could the fact that all of these veterans voluntarily praised the VA medical care be the reason that not one word or picture about these veterans appeared in LIFE?

All of this is not to say that the VA medical system cannot be improved just as every other medical program should seek improvement. We are committed to constant progress and improvement for it is our goal to provide the very best possible medical care to every eligible veteran today as well as in the future.

Sincerely,
Donald E. Johnson,
Administrator.

A GRASSROOTS COMMENT

The Senator said, "I believe these letters (there were two) place the situation in its true light and raise serious questions regarding the journalistic standards of LIFE and its editorial personnel."

Senator Dole is no stranger to VA Hospitals. Enlisted U.S. Army, 1943, served 5 1/2 years, platoon leader in Italy, twice wounded, twice decorated. Discharged with rank of Captain. Was a VA Hospital patient 39 months.

There are those who believe there is a determined effort to break down the morale of the American people by slanted reporting. It pays to hear both sides. --J.C.

Beach Pollution Brings Strong Recommendations

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN

Pollution of Texas beaches brought strong recommendations to Senate committees for curbs on offshore oil exploration, vigorous enforcement of anti-spill regulations and creation of a national oil company.

Senate beach and pipeline study committees listened to a full day of testimony. Highlights included:

*Complaint of pipeline committee consultant Terence O'Rourke that state agencies seldom file cases to collect fines for oil spill pollutions. O'Rourke said Texas would have a fund of "millions of dollars" from fines to combat pollution if strong enforcement were the rule. Railroad Commission Chief Enforcement Officer Roy Payne acknowledged under questioning that the Commission has never filed lawsuit to punish accidental pollution through spills.

*Statement by Sen. A. R. Schwartz of Galveston that the oil industry should not be permitted to drill in coastal waters until it can give assurances it has technology to prevent spills.

*Recommendation of Sen. D. Roy Harrington of Port Arthur that double safety devices be installed on huge coastal rigs so emergency manual shut-offs could be used when automated equipment fails or is destroyed by fires.

*Suggestion by Austin journalist Ronnie Dugger that a national oil company be established to produce oil on public lands. Dugger said former Gov. Ross Sterling, himself an oil company executive, as far back as 1931 had proposed the state drill its own oil and that President Nixon's task force wants the federal government to finance exploration and development of an emergency standby reserve.

*Recommendation by governor's aide John Shanahan Jr. for tighter rules over oil industry operating in state waters and legislative designation of responsibility for oil spill contingency planning.

COURTS SPEAK

In district court cases at Houston and El Paso, Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin won first judicial orders checking air pollution by trash burning and industrial smoke. Civil penalties were assessed in the Robert's Dump case, Houston. An El Paso smelting and refining firm was given deadlines for installing anti-pollution devices.

Supreme Court held that cities under 5,000 (Lindale) cannot annex territory without consent of the people living in the area. High Court set July arguments on the issue of whether an insurance company (Allstate) issuing uninsured motorist coverage should be allowed to enter court against its own policyholder on the side of uninsured drivers to prove its client was partly at fault or his injuries less than claimed.

Supreme Court reversed the $42,892 judgement awarded a 79-year-old woman injured in a stairway fall at Houston's Astrodome.

Attorney General announced acceptance of voluntary compliance from a Beaumont housewares franchiser, agreeing to discontinue advertising and sales practices questioned as deceptive.

SHOULD JP'S BE LAWYERS?

State Bar will take up a resolution at its San Antonio convention July 2 urging the legislature to require urban county judges and justices of the peace have credentials as lawyers.

Resolution suggests attorney qualifications for judges of counties over 50,000 and for JP's in counties over 200,000. Among other resolutions on the agenda is one seeking higher pay for lawyers in military service.

REGULATORY AUTHORITY

State Department of Agriculture has requested power to outlaw chemical compounds harmful to public health.

Commissioner John C. White also proposed in a meeting of the Interim Legislative Study Committee on Land Use and Environmental Control that the legislature regulate disposing of pesticides and chemical compounds that are no longer needed, no longer used or banned from use.

Committee called the meeting following a report on cumulative effects of the pesticide DDT on animals.

White repeated his previous statement that he knows of no case in which humans have been harmed as a result of the use of DDT in agriculture.

Same Committee was told by a Florida biologist that oysters taken from the Arroyo Colorado area of Laguna Madre had the highest DDT concentrations of any in the nation. This, the biologist said, is a reflection of intense agricultural activity in the Rio Grande Valley. Oysters, according to the same authority, are not killed by DDT, but fish that eat them are.

A Texas Parks and Wildlife Department spokesman said hydrocarbons (such as DDT) can-

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:

I'm not sure you're supposed to worry about such things in the face of far graver issues around the globe, but according to an article I read in a newspaper last night a lot of towns and cities are hopping mad over the census figures now coming out.

They're made because the figures are lower than they'd expected. Here they'd been thinking they'd been getting bigger all the time and when the figures came out some towns believing they'd jumped from say 10,000 to 12 or 15 thousand found they were still 10,000, and some cities thinking they'd passed the quarter-million figure found they were a measly 200,000. Some of them want a re-count.

I don't understand this. The average city like it is can't afford all the police, fireman, schools, paved streets, parks and other things it needs, and yet here it is hollering for more people it can't extend sewer lines to. It's like a man with seven children, the last two of it barefooted, hoping for still bigger family.

Now I'm not saying the answer a town is the fewer people it has, but you've got to remember that the biggest cities in this country certainly have the biggest problems. Ask May Lindsey.

Or take Los Angeles. It would be a city with so many people and so many cars now there not enough air to breathe, no place to fall if you fall, want to increase its population. It's like a fat man trying to get weight, an under-stuffed hospital asking for more patients.

Now you take the area surrounding this Johnson grain farm. We haven't increased population in years. We saw it ago that if we couldn't improve the quality, at least try to hold down the quantity.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

not continue to be used without serious degradation of the world ecological system.

OBSCENITY CRACKDOWN

Federal court in Dallas held that almost all of the new state obscenity control law is constitutional, and Attorney General Martin predicted a crackdown on distribution of obscene material will result.

Only section of the law invalidated was one allowing seizure of material without a hearing.

Ruling rejected requests for injunction by book stores and movie houses in Dallas, Amarillo and Lubbock.

SMALL TOWNS IN TROUBLE

Noting preliminary census figures discouraging to many communities, Gov. Preston Smith said revitalizing the small towns of Texas may be tougher than starting them.

"Right now," said Smith in a speech at Crane, "the people of Texas -- whether they live in the largest city or the smallest rural community--have some problems as tough for them as were those that confronted the 'frontier busters.' In many respects, our challenge and task are more demanding as much more complex. The preliminary reports on the census of so many of our smaller cities spell out in box-car size letters that much tenacity--just plain guts -- is required to tackle the job as the old-timers needed.

WHIPLASH NECK INJURY

The neck is supported by a column of seven bones called vertebrae bound to each other by muscles and ligaments. The neck is highly flexible and therefore subject to injuries of the type now known as whiplash. While sitting in an automobile the portion of the body below the neck has some support from the seat back. The unsupported and highly flexible neck is often "snapped" when an automobile is hit in the rear by another car.

Insects Damage Cattle, Crops

By J. D. Moore

Horn flies and grasshoppers will likely be the most widespread insects during the remainder of the summer.

The horn fly, a blood sucking insect about 1/2 the size of the house fly is one of the most persistent and annoying external parasites of Texas cattle. This pest actively reproduces from early spring through late fall and often builds large populations during favorable seasons resulting in several thousand flies per animal.

Adult flies live on the animals continuously and feed intermittently, perhaps 20 times or more per day.

Assuming that each fly extracts one drop of blood per day, a moderately heavy infestation of 5,000 flies can extract 1/2 pint of blood each day or about 1 percent of the blood volume of a 1,000 pound animal.

In addition to the blood loss, cattle constantly fight the flies, wasting calories and energy that could be utilized for beef or milk production. Horn fly losses to livestock are estimated at 1/4 pound of flesh or 1 quart of milk per day from uncontrolled infestations.

HORN FLY CONTROL

Back rubbing devices have been used successfully in suppressing horn fly population.

However, under most Texas conditions sprays give more complete control. Methoxychlor for dairy cattle and Toxaphene for beef are the most widely used chemicals.

A number of commercial insecticides are available at local stores. The Texas Guide for Controlling External Parasites, MP-691 is available at the county agent's office.

Grasshoppers are widespread in Milam County more particularly in the sandy soil areas. Grasshoppers often severely damage range grasses, cultivated crops, gardens as well as orchards.

These insects start feeding in the spring and continue until fall. They may be kept under control by applying insecticides. The controls may be in the form of spray, dust, or bait. Control measures are more effective and crop damage minimized if steps are taken early.

Sprays give higher initial kills than dusts and continue to kill over a longer period of time; they require less insecticide per acre.

For safety, Sevin is your best bet for grasshopper control. By following recommendations, Aldrin, Dieldrin, Toxaphene, Chloradane and Heptachlor may be used with success.

ASCS News

Some farm program payment drafts are already being received in ASCS county offices for issuance to producers on July 1.

By the end of May, about 325,000 data sheets had been received in the ASCS computer center in New Orleans. By the end of August when farm program payments are expected to be substantially completed, we anticipate that about 2,25 million data sheets will have been received and processed.

Participants in the feed grain, wheat and cotton programs are reminded that early certification of compliance means early payments. As soon as a producer begins processing the papers for the payment he has earned.

Group Sees P M Parts Techniques

On Tuesday, May 19, Aluminum Company of America's special Subcommittee on Metal Particle, Powder and Pigment met at the company's Rockdale works to discuss latest developments in the research and marketing of parts being made from powder metallurgy (P/M) techniques.

P/M parts are produced by blending powders and additives, and then cold compacting the mixture to the required shape in a precision die. The compacts are then sintered or fired in a controlled atmosphere furnace to form a strong, homogeneously structured part.

Aluminum P/M parts offer advantages not available in parts produced from commonly used powders. Advantages are light weight; resistance to corrosion; offer high strength and good ductility; have non-magnetic properties; are good conductors of electricity; come in a variety of finishes; and are competitive in cost with many iron powders and offer a substantial cost advantage over copper powders.

The automobile industry is by far the largest consumer of precision P/M parts: there are more than 100 P/M parts in most 1970 cars.

Poage Reports . . . Farm Bill Has Setback

Chairman W. R. Poage of the House Committee on Agriculture expressed disappointment that the passage of a general farm bill by Congress this year seems to be further away from achievement.

He cited adoption by a 17 to 14 vote of "certain amendments" as cause of the setback. Poage did not specify what the amendments are, but said they had previously been "repudiated by the Department of Agriculture."

farmers were in earliest to certify. And participants who got measurement service from the county office have been able to make early certifications.

Some 1,245 producers signed up to participate in the feed grain program, 134 in the wheat program, and 1,040 in the cotton program in Milam County this year.

The programs are voluntary. In return for participation, producers earn price-support payments, are eligible for price-support loans, and may earn diversion payments for feed grain and wheat. To earn these payments, they limit production of the program crops, and set aside cropland acres for conserving uses which protect the soil.

In his June 4 newsletter, Poage said he believes that "if the Administration will yield a little on a point on which I am sure they expect to yield in the Senate, that we can hope for substantial Committee support, but, as I have explained several times, I don't want to gamble with $3 billion of farm income."

In a statement answering criticism directed at the compromise bill which he and others had supported, Poage repeated that cooperation of his Committee and the Secretary of Agriculture, including cooperation of the members of both parties, is necessary for passing farm legislation.

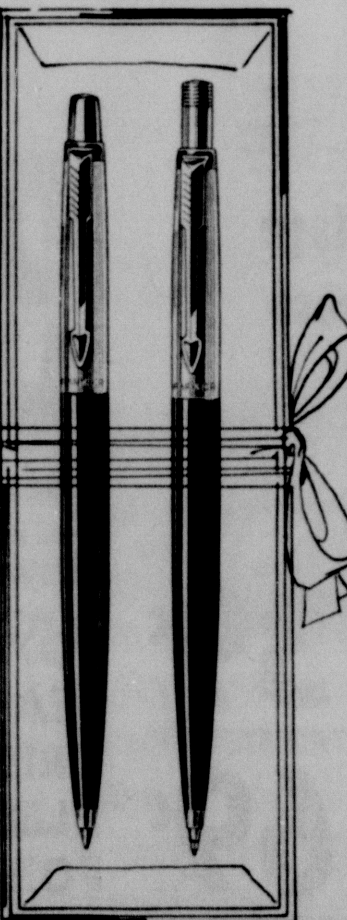

He added that he agrees to some extent with a number of the smaller farm organizations that have urged payment of "substantially larger government subsidies."

"... I have felt that if we are justified in increasing the wages of government workers . . . we are also justified in increasing the income of those who provide the food and fiber for the American people," Poage's statement said.

THE FOOD DOLLAR

Farmers received an average of 41 cents out of each $1 spent for U.S. farm produced food in 1969. This was about 2 cents more than in 1957-59, but 9 cents less than in 1947-49. The farmer's share of the consumer's dollar varies widely among products. It is smaller for a highly serviced product such as bread than for an unprocessed product such as eggs. When $1 was spent in 1969 at the grocery store, 41 cents went for products and 59 cents for marketing service.

Everyone Has Stake In Preventing Range Fires

Once again it is time for ranchers and others to guard against fire, the greatest hazard to rangeland during the hot summer months, Bobby J. Ragsdale, range specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, has noted.

"Good moisture during the spring has resulted in good vegetative growth in many areas of the state, and the high temperatures and summer dry period will result in optimum fire conditions," Ragsdale said.

Everyone has a stake in preventing range fires, he said. The rancher depends upon the vegetation produced for livestock forage which ends up in the steaks, lamb chops, and other products which all Texans enjoy, Ragsdale said.

"Fishermen and water enthusiasts want clear lakes for fishing or other forms of recreation," he said. "However, fire denuded rangeland leads to soil erosion when the rains come, resulting in silt-filled muddy lakes."

The forage produced on rangeland provides cover and food for wildlife, too, Ragsdale remarked. A wild fire can reduce the hunter's opportunity for plentiful and well-fed game, he added.

"There are solutions to prevention of fire," Ragsdale said. "The motorist can make sure all cigarettes are put out and placed in the ash tray instead of thrown out the window; recreationists can be careful with camp fires; landowners can build fireguards, have sprayers and other fire fighting equipment in good repair and readily available and local governments can have up-to-date workable plans for fighting fires."

Everyone has a part in preventing range fires and all will suffer from such fires, he remarked. Everyone should do their part to help prevent range fires, Ragsdale urged.

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

The 1970's is supposed to be the decade of the environment, and it takes only a quick look around to see the need for improvement in air, water, land, noise and light pollution, says the Texas State Department of Health.

An inescapable blight on our environment is in the area of solid wastes. The litter and the rubble of our society is seen everywhere as a product of the American way of life.

Three factors influence the growing refuse problem: 1. population increase; 2. Urbanization; and, 3. Affluence.

The "throw-away" container is seen everywhere. It's hard to envision 48 billion cans, 28 billion bottles, but that's how many are produced annually in this country. Virtually all are discarded.

One junk automobile doesn't seem much of a problem, but we have to cope with seven million a year—along with 100 million tires and some 20 million tons of paper. The nation's garbage collection bill is $2.8 billion annually. An average of almost one ton of refuse is thrown away per person in Texas each year. The state average is about five pounds per capita per day, and the figure is rising slowly.

In Texas total of 26,000 acres of land are used for solid waste disposal. This is equivalent to 41 square miles. Put another way, this is equal to a strip of land a mile wide stretching almost from Houston to Galveston, or from Dallas past Fort Worth. Solid wastes, once collected, can be treated in three ways.

They may be incinerated, disposed of in a landfill (buried), or composted into a useable soil conditioner.

Open pit burning, which pollutes the air, has never been a satisfactory way of disposal. Regulations of the Air Control Board no longer permit open refuse burning by cities of more than 5,000. Cost of incineration is quite high using equipment with proper air control devices.

Composting plants are in operation and may serve a growing need in the future, but only limited operations are seen now.

This leaves sanitary landfills as the most promising means of solid waste disposal. In this method, refuse is dumped into a pit, compacted and covered each day with dirt. Marginal land is reclaimed by sanitary landfilling for parks, golf courses and other uses.

The Texas State Department of Health has had an active solid waste program since 1944, primarily of an advisory and educational nature, to help Texans meet their refuse problems each day.

Venders Make It

Vending machines are expected to sell 5.5 billion dollars worth of soft drinks, coffee, cold milk, sandwiches, salads, hot foods, canned foods and desserts during 1970. This amounts to approximately 3.5 billion dollars more than 1959 sales.

Contract Let For FM 485

AUSTIN

Contracts for highway construction in the Bryan district have been awarded by the Texas Highway Commission.

The work will be under the supervision of District Engineer Joe Hanover, and will be in Washington and Milam counties.

In Milam County, Downing Bros., Inc. of Waco was awarded a contract for grading, structures, base and surfacing on 8.3 miles of FM 485. Low bid was $92,933.42.

Delton Kittrell of Hearne is the Highway Department engineer in charge of the work located from US Highway 77 to the Bell County line. The project will take an estimated 90 working days to complete.

Faithful Franks In Hearty Salad Fill Bill for Lunch

Dream about a luncheon main dish that requires only kitchen staples for creation? A robust salad with sliced frankfurters, hard-cooked eggs and kidney beans is sure to satisfy this desire and appetites too.

Handy franks are perfect for cold entrees because they are fully cooked before packaging, explains Reba Staggs, home economist for the National Live Stock and Meat Board. Other ingredients are cupboard or refrigerator staples.

Main Dish Salad
1 package (1 pound)

- frankfurters, sliced crosswise
1 can (16 ounces) red kidney beans, drained
1 cup chopped celery
1/4 cup chopped onion
2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
2 tablespoons sweet pickle relish
1/4 cup mayonnaise
1 tablespoon chili sauce or catsup
1 teaspoon salt
1 head lettuce
- Chill ingredients. Combine meat, kidney beans, celery, onion, eggs, pickle, mayonnaise, chili sauce or catsup and salt. Toss lightly and chill in a covered bowl for 1/2 hour. Serve in lettuce cups. 4 to 6 servings.

MENTAL HEALTH MATTERS
National Institute of Mental Health

Public Attitudes

What are the public's attitudes toward mental illness and the people who are emotionally or mentally ill?

Public understanding and attitudes based on fact rather than superstition are essential to finding and treating mental illness effectively—and to preventing mental illness and fostering mental health.

This is particularly important now that there are community mental health centers growing up all over the country, allowing greater numbers of mentally ill persons to be treated in their community to the community's advantage as well as theirs.

Surveys have been made to find out what the public's understanding and attitudes are. These have been scattered, done at different times, by different investigators, with different methods and aims, and on different groups of the population.

Nonetheless, the general impression from these studies is that the public is better informed about mental illness than it was 10 to 20 years ago.

Most important, the public expresses more tolerant and understanding attitudes toward the mentally ill than used to be true.

People at all social and economic levels are more knowledgeable now than they were a decade or more ago. Unfortunately, this greater knowledge has not always been matched by progress in facilities and services for dealing with mental or emotional difficulties.

We can look for this to improve. For one thing, the proximity of more mental health resources in the community, as these services are developed in accord with local needs and desires, will lead to changes in the ways people seek help for mental illness and in the ways it is provided them. This, in turn, should lead to further changing of public attitudes for the good of all concerned.

Broilers 'In' With Dieters

"Broiler" is the poultry industry term for a 1 1/4 to 3 1/2 pound young chicken, sold in markets as a broiler, fryer or frying chicken. A broiler is also part of a kitchen range.

Broiler chicken is "in" with weight watchers. Gwendolyn Clyatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist, reports, A three ounce edible portion of a broiled chicken without additional fat has only 185 calories or 115 without skin.

"The best broiled chicken has crisp, flavorful skin and moist, tender meat," Mrs. Clyatt said. "That means the chicken must be broiled quickly enough to cook the meat before it dries out, yet not so fast that the skin browns before the meat is done. Individual broilers vary greatly, and you must experiment a little to find your own best techniques."

Supplies of fryers are expected to be about 10% above last year for the next couple of months, thereby offering plenty of good eating for summertime meals, cookouts, and picnics at reasonable prices, Mrs. Clyatt said. Chicken is an excellent high-quality protein food, she added.

"In addition to its other merits, chicken is consistently easy on the pocketbook and is obtainable most anywhere," Mrs. Clyatt said. "The average retail price for each pound of chicken has been reduced from $4.8 in 1950 to a 1969 average figure of only 42¢ a pound."

Per capita chicken consumption was estimated at 38.9 pounds in 1969 as compared with 37.2 pounds in 1968 and 27.5 pounds in 1957-59, Mrs. Clyatt noted.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Edison Fikes and daughter Susan have returned from a two-week trip to Washington, D. C., Williamsburg, Virginia and North Carolina. Their son James Ray Fikes and his wife accompanied them home from North Carolina for a short vacation in Cameron.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Behrens, Buckholts, have returned from a ten day visit with their daughter, Marilyn of Texarkana, Arkansas.

While there they spent several days traveling the Ozark Trails and other resort areas.

Stairs Mustn't Vary

When building stairs, indoors or out, be sure to make all risers the same height and all treads the same width. Deviations may cause bad falls. If made of Douglas fir, outdoor steps may be left to weather naturally.

Tips To Aid Recovery Of Stolen Automobiles

Car owners who become the victims of auto theft can assist in the recovery of their car by being able to provide investigators two small but vital pieces of information. These items can be the key factors in how soon a stolen automobile is recovered - and time is crucial if the car is to be returned to its owner in reasonably good shape, according to the National Automobile Theft Bureau.

C. C. Benson, manager of the southwestern division of the NATB, says that if every car owner would have available his auto license number and vehicle identification number, he would have a much better chance of getting his car back if it is stolen.

"Using modern law enforcement techniques now available, the police can feed this data into an auto theft computer within minutes after the theft is reported," said Mr. Benson, "and this computer will distribute the information on the stolen car to local, state and national authorities within five minutes."

"However, if the owner doesn't have this information readily available, the recovery operation becomes more difficult and chances of recovery lessen."

Mr. Benson also called attention to anti-theft devices that have been built into many 1969 model cars, most 1970's and that will be included on all future models.

The locking steering column and other anti-theft devices have been built in by the manufacturers to reduce the number of thefts by making the thief's job more difficult - if not nearly impossible," Mr. Benson commented. "It is amazing that people pay for these innovations and then render them ineffective by leaving their cars parked unlocked and with the keys in the ignition."

The NATB official urged that all car owners record, in a place that makes them easily and readily available, their auto license number and their vehicle identification number in order to aid authorities if their car is stolen.

"But," Mr. Benson concluded, "in order to prevent theft in the first place, car owners should always lock their autos and take the keys with them whenever they leave them unattended - even in their own driveways."

Wood Base Aid For Trash Can

Trash cans take a beating from sitting on damp ground or concrete. Even in a garage or covered entry, cold and dampness can cause rusting that ruins the cans and stains concrete.

Build a base to perch them on, a square or oblong box frame, depending on the number of cans.

You can be as elaborate as you like, but a simple end-butted frame of 2x4s works well. Drill holes for nailing when using a nail long enough to penetrate the thickness of one 2x4 and secure the right-angled member.

A floor of spaced 1x2s will allow ventilation.

Scrap lengths of heart cedar or pressure treated Douglas fir are inexpensive and durable.

The league is an expansion of the Three Arts Study Club and charter members will be present Three Arts Club members. First year plans for the League include a tea, a newcomers party, a fund-raising luncheon and program, and a spring Charity Ball. Candlelight Ceremony Unites Local Couple Miss Georgeena Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Travis Anderson of Cameron and Wayne Hillman, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hillman, Cameron, were married in a candlelight ceremony June 6 at 8 p.m. in the First Presbyterian Church.

Rev. Wirt Skinner performed the double-ring ceremony amid colored spring baskets and candles. Mrs. Dan Browder of Lexington furnished the nuptial music.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a formal gown of organza with an empress bodice, ruffled neckline and long shirt sleeves of Chantilly lace.

Her A-Line skirt and mantilla which formed a chapel train were also bordered in Chantilly lace.

The bridal bouquet was an arrangement of variegated spring flowers centered with an orchid.

Miss Brenda Watkins, of Cameron, was maid of honor. She wore a hot pink dotted swiss gown, touched off with pleats and a bow in the back. She carried a nosegay of multi-colored spring flowers.

For something old the bride wore a wristwatch belonging to her grandmother Mrs. A. W. Brooks. Something new was the bride's wedding dress and something blue, a garter.

Best man was Mike Rogers of Cameron. Ushers were Kenneth Kirk, Cameron and Michael Anderson of Austin.

The bride's mother wore a pale pink knit dress with varicolored accessories and her corsage was of deep pink carnations set off by multi-colored ribbon.

A reception was held in the First Presbyterian Church following the wedding.

Decorations were mixed floral baskets and candelabra. The centerpiece was an arrangement of hot pink carnations and candelabra set with wedding cake and punch bowl. The three tiered cake was decorated with swans, roses and doves.

Why pay up to $259* more for a compact when Maverick gives you all this?

Why pay more when Maverick saves you money right from the start? And however you figure it... size, power, economy... Maverick gives you more in the bargain!

Maverick is no lightweight. Its wide tread and stability makes for a sure grip on the road. Yet there's no excess weight to cause acceleration lag or reduce fuel economy.

Maverick is perky. Some competitive makes have four cylinders. Maverick's got a 170 CID six-cylinder that delivers 105 hp. It gets you up to expressway speeds in less than 15 seconds... without getting you in hock at the gas pumps.

Maverick is economical to drive. Test drivers averaged 22.5 mpg in simulated actual driving conditions. This means you could go up to 350 miles or more between gas stops.

Maverick is simple to park. It's less than 15 feet long and has a turning diameter of only 35.6 feet. So you can nip in and out of tight parking spots and tough traffic, easier than the big guys.

Maverick is simple to maintain. You can do it yourself. The Maverick Owner's Manual is packed with simple diagrams and instructions.

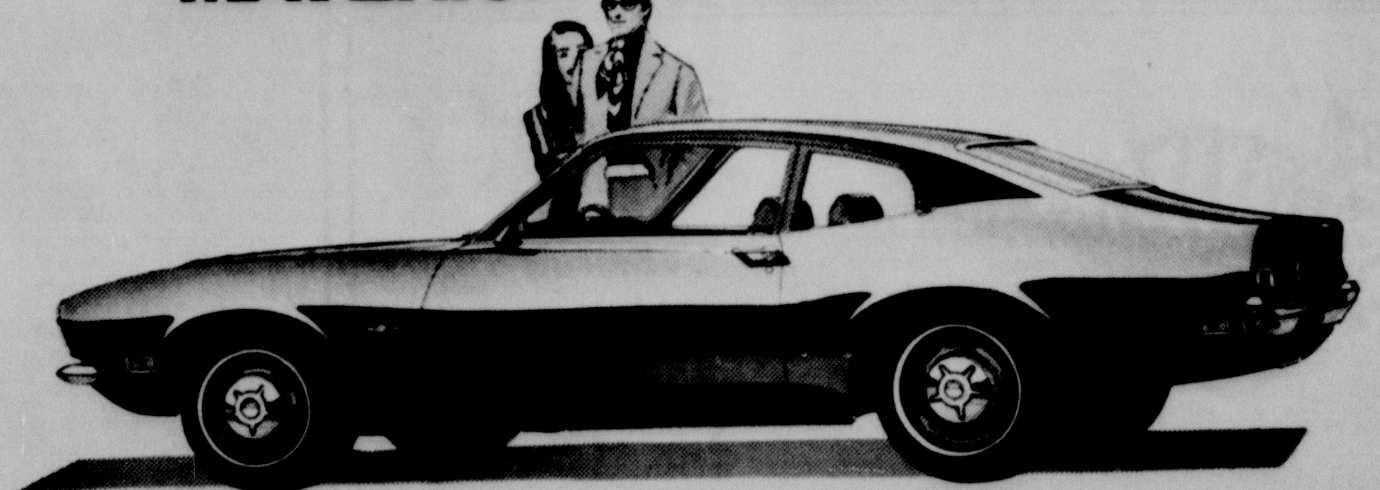

Maverick is easy to own. So easy, in fact, with its low, low price, that you can even move up to a jazzy Maverick Grabber and still beat that compact price.

Maverick is America's biggest selling small car. And that means you can expect top dollar resale value when it comes time to trade. Maverick just doesn't know how to stop saving for you.

Labor Cost Ups Bill
In 1949, U.S. consumers' food bills brought $20 billion to farmers and $25 billion to companies that process, package and sell food. Today $30 billion goes to farmers; $60 billion to food processors and retailers. High labor costs, which account for 45% of the total marketing bill, make the biggest difference.

Land Tax Exemption Face 'Active Opposition'

The proposed Constitutional Amendment giving the legislature authority to exempt farms, ranches and forest lands from ad valorem taxation will have "some active opposition" before the November election, Rep. Dan Kubiak said this week.

The amendment, No. 3 on the ballot, would permit farms and ranches to be taxed on their productive value rather than development value.

Kubiak said his office was told by a representative of the Texas School and Assessors Conference that passage of the amendment would cause "extreme hardship in many Texas school districts."

"He says that this amendment is an attempt by wealthy, non-resident tax farmers and timber companies to avoid ad valorem taxation," Rep. Kubiak continued.

According to the spokesman for the TSAC, Kubiak said, if voters understood what taxation will be transferred from the tax farmer and timber companies to the home owners and small businesses, the amendment would not be passed. A Senate Interim Committee is studying the taxation of farm, ranch and forest lands, Rep. Kubiak noted, adding that the committee will hold regional meetings to gather facts and hear testimony from persons interested in the taxation of agricultural land.

SCHOOL FINANCING
Administrators from the state's major school districts last week renewed their pleas for a uniform property valuation plan to force everyone to share a larger role in school financing. School officials from Dallas, Fort Worth and San Antonio "painted a dismal picture of financial problems of the schools in hearings before an interim committee on school financing in Austin."

Rep. Kubiak said visits with school board members in Cameron, Rockdale, Marlin, Hearne and other areas in District 27 turned up many problems that must be solved during the next legislature on public education financing. He added that his office is researching this area for possible solutions.

He obviously was impressed by what he saw. Addressing the students assembled in the auditorium after his trip around the campus, he told them:

"I am deeply impressed by what I have seen here this afternoon and the way you are working to improve your living conditions. You should be very proud of what you are accomplishing. . . . I wish the people in my home in Houston and some of the members of Congress in Washington could have made the tour of your school with me this afternoon and seen you as I did." He received a standing ovation from the students as he concluded his speech.

Rep. Bush Tours TSTI Campus At Harlingen

By Lloyd Albertson

U. S. Representative George Bush made a tour and inspection of the Texas State Technical Institute's Rio Grande campus at Harlingen last Friday in advance of a weekend campaign swing through the lower Valley in his race for the United States Senate.

His visit to the campus was made under the auspices of the vocational - technical school's officials, including Dr. Roy Dugger, president of TSTI, and Milton Schiller of Cameron, vice president in charge of the Rio Grande campus.

Although Bush, who represents Houston's 7th District, was in the Valley to further his Senate campaign, his activities during the day in Harlingen were largely non-political.

His schedule included a press conference at the airport immediately after his arrival at 11 a.m., a speech to Rotary Club members at a noon luncheon in the Sun Valley Motel, and then a two hour tour of the TSTI campus and an address to the students.

His itinerary also included a visit later to nearby Rebel Field of the famed Confederate Air Force where he was tentatively scheduled to take a short hop in a P38 of the type he flew as a Navy torpedo bomber pilot in the South Pacific during World War II. And then guest of honor at a reception in the CAF's Officer Club.

Cong. Bush was met at the airport by a welcoming committee that included Harlingen Mayor George Young and Chamber of Commerce members as well as TSTI officials when his plane landed right on time.

At the short press conference, when asked about his campaign, he expressed confidence, but observed that any Republican running for office in a traditionally Democratic state like Texas would be at a disadvantage, and expected a tough, uphill battle to win the Senate seat.

In his speech to the Rotary Club members at the noon luncheon, Bush devoted most of his remarks to President Nixon's Southeast Asia policy and to the nation's financial outlook.

Concerning the move into Cambodia to hit the North Vietnamese sanctuaries, he admitted he had strong reservations about this at first.

"But when I received a briefing and saw how essential it was, I fully supported the move," he said.

"It could have widened the war," he added. "It didn't. It could have brought in Red China or Russia. It hasn't done that either. Instead, it has been a big military success; the amount of arms, ammunition and supplies that have been captured or destroyed has weakened the enemy for months to come, and will insure that our withdrawal of troops from Vietnam can continue on schedule."

He said he was appalled, however, by the total lack of knowledge and information of the protesters, mostly college students, that immediately descended on Washington following the move.

Nitrogen Is Vital For Producing Forage Quality

Continuous production of high yielding, quality forage dictates that careful attention be given to the maintenance of a bountiful supply of nitrogen throughout the growing season, John Box, Extension agronomist at Texas A&M University, reminds.

Production of top quality forage for grazing, hay or silage requires that the plants have access to adequate supplies of all the essential plant nutrients, Box said, and the plant nutrient used in the largest quantity by forage crops is nitrogen.

"Each ton of air dried forage, testing 12.5% crude protein, contains 40 pounds of nitrogen," Box noted. "This 40 pounds can come from a number of different sources such as decomposition of organic matter, carryover or residual from previous fertilization or from the current fertilizer application."

"Generally speaking, at least 60 pounds of nitrogen are required for each acre harvested. This means that additional nitrogen must be added immediately following each harvest or grazing period since most soils are low in this nutrient."

The ultimate source of all nitrogen used by plants is nitrogen gas, the inert gas that comprises about 78% of the earth's atmosphere, he explained. However, only properly inoculated legumes are capable of utilizing this elemental gas, which totals about 35,000 tons above each acre of the earth's surface, Box added.

Plants use nitrogen as nitrate or ammonium, he said. All inorganic nitrogen sources, regardless of original form, are rapidly converted into the nitrate form when incorporated into soils that have the pH, temperature, and moisture conditions favorable for nitrification, he said.

"For this reason, nitrogen sources are usually about equal in agronomic response when 'mixed into' the soil just prior to the period when used by the crop," Box said. "This holds true for all sources, as well as for solids, liquids or gasses. Solids or liquids put on the surface and carried into the soil by irrigation water or rain give similar results."

Nitrogen recovery, under field conditions by the crop to which it is applied will vary from about 50% to above 75%, with the average for Texas being between 60% and 70%, he said.

"When considering nitrogen sources for surface application consideration should be given to the nitrogen source," Box said. "Evidence from research work indicates that urea, solid or in solution, is less effective than ammonium sulfate, which in turn is slightly less effective than ammonium nitrate, because of volatilization losses which may occur when pH, moisture, temperature and air movement are critical."

All nitrogen fertilizers should be incorporated into the soil, however, when incorporation is not feasible, care in matching the nitrogen source to conditions that minimize volatilization losses is necessary, Box noted.

Eggs Head List Of Most Popular Foods

COLLEGE STATION

A question frequently asked by consumers is, "What is that bunch of white stuff at each end of the egg yolk when it is broken out?" Gwendolyn Clyatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service reported.

The "white stuff" is called chalaza and is simply thick strands of white albumen which help keep the egg yolk suspended in the center of the egg. It is very similar to a paper wrap on candy kisses. It covers the egg yolk, even though it cannot be seen and is twisted on each end.

"The egg is the most perfect single food unit known to man," Mrs. Clyatt says. "And the chalaza is perfectly edible since it is simply thick albumen."

Within the egg are combined the choicest elements, completely balanced for producing a healthy child, she notes. "The original purpose of the egg explains the perfect grouping of proteins, fats, minerals, amino acids, vitamins and other life-sustaining ingredients contained within the shell," Mrs. Clyatt says. "Among the most valuable of the many food properties ascribed to eggs are the vitamins."

Eggs are an excellent source of Vitamin A, and among natural foods, eggs probably stand at the head of the list as a source of Vitamin D, she notes. The quantities of other vitamins in eggs are enough to make a substantial contribution, she adds.

"Because they are attractive, palatable, easily assimilated, nourishing and healthful, eggs have become one of our most popular foods," Mrs. Clyatt says. "They may be tucked into the diet in a variety of ways, and probably no single food can be utilized in a greater number of dishes."

Use Caution In Outdoors

AUSTIN — A few precautions can keep a family outing from becoming a bad trip, according to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

One good tip is to leave animals in the wild alone. A fox, kink, coyote, or any other species for that matter, which approaches without fear should be immediately suspect. Rabies is never a certainty, but if you are bitten rabies shots almost always are.

Texas has three poisonous plants -- poison sumac, poison oak, and poison ivy. Anyone interested in going outdoors should learn to identify these plants, and avoid them.

Unfortunately, there are insects aplenty with a liking for human blood. Plenty of insect repellent could keep a camping trip from becoming a swatting derby.

Then there are snakes. They become active when the weather becomes warm, about the same time outdoorsmen become active. Good boots and sharp eye will usually be enough prevention. But to be on the safe side, snakebite kits are inexpensive and good insurance.

Rabbit hunters know no season in Texas, and spring and summer rabbit hunting offers a possible hazard to them -- tularemia. Rabbits should be handled with caution, and the blood should be prevented from contacting any cut or scratch on the hunter.

Safety on the water is a must. More than 500 persons drowned last year, many of them while on pleasure outings. The Department urges boaters to obey the Texas Water Safety Act, and other persons enjoying the outdoors to use a little common sense when around water.

TACKLE BOX IDEA

Need a cheap tackle box for the boat? Get one of those old gas mask bags from a Army surplus store. They cost only about 50¢ and are ideal for carrying extra tackle. Also handy to have around the camp or boat.

Kubiak Announces Housing Development

State Rep. Dan Kubiak has revealed plans for a major apartment and home development in Rockdale at US 79 West and Childress Street.

Three speculative homes are being built and 3 more scheduled with a July 1 completion date set.

The 3 bedroom, 2 bath houses will be priced at $12,900 to $15,900 with Farmers Home Administration financing available. An additional 34 residential lots will be for sale in the development.

In addition to the individual homes, construction will start this month on 14 two-bedroom studio-type apartment units that will rent for about $100 per month unfurnished.

Streets in the Town Oaks development are planned to avoid through traffic and will have curbs and gutters. Apartment parking areas and the streets where housing is now underway will be paved by the developer.

Long-range plans for the development call for a second apartment complex with swimming pool and a 34,000-square-foot shopping center with parking for 400 cars.

LEGAL NOTICE

Being certified by the Commissioner of Agriculture of the State of Texas for this purpose, the Texas Turkey Federation of Bryan, Texas proposes a referendum election on July 27, 1970, under provisions of Article 55c, Vernon's Civil Statutes, on the proposition of whether or not turkey producers in the State of Texas shall assess themselves a maximum amount of two cents per live hundredweight paid for plus an additional one cent per head on mature birds as defined by U.S.D.A. grade, to be collected at the point of first processing or sale, and to elect members for a fifteen man commodity producers board to administer proceeds of such assessment for purposes of promotion, research, education, and disease and insect control designed to encourage the production, marketing, and use of turkeys.

The referendum and election will be held by mail ballot furnished to all eligible voters not later than fifteen days prior to election date. Ballots must be mailed to the polling place at P. O. Box 3929, Bryan, Texas 77801, before midnight on the election date.

MOTHER DESERVES THE BEST! Treat her to a brunch of Pork Sausage Patties and Bacon-Wrapped Pineapple.

The "m" in "mothers" must stand for meals, for mothers prepare so many of them. Appropriately, what's left is "others" -- the families for whom those nourishing meals are provided.

A special ingredient called love is tenderly added to each dish, each menu. No wonder mothers merit a day of recognition!

Dad and/or children can show appreciation by reversing the roles and preparing a hot brunch in mother's honor on her day or any day! Build the menu around pork sausage patties with bacon-wrapped pineapple, suggests Reba Staggs, home economist of the National Live Stock and Meat Board. Any mother is sure to enjoy this brunch prepared deliciously with love for her!

Pork Sausage Patties

Shape 1 pound fresh bulk pork sausage into 6 to 8 patties 1/2 to 3/4 inch thick. Place in cold frying-pan with 3 tablespoons water. Cover and cook over low heat 5 minutes. Remove cover and pour off drippings. Cook uncovered over low heat, turning occasionally, until patties are browned and well done.

Bacon-Wrapped Pineapple

Place 10 to 16 slices of bacon on rack in broiler pan. Broil bacon 2 to 3 inches from heat just until bacon is slightly cooked. Pour off drippings. Drain 1 can pineapple spears (10 to 16 spears). Wrap a slice of bacon around each pineapple spear. Place bacon-wrapped pineapple on broiler rack and broil until bacon is crisp.

Bachelor's Bounty

Want to give a bachelor friend something for Christmas that he can really use? Introduce him to disposable broiler pans that he can discard after using to broil juicy steaks and huge hamburgers. Or for a sharp present, consider carving utensils. When put to use, host's skill as well as meat are well presented.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere appreciation for the many kindnesses shown at the loss of our little daughter Charlotte. We are deeply grateful for the many expressions of sympathy, the beautiful cards, prayers and comforting words.

Grow Guar For Case, Says Ag Commissioner

AUSTIN — For Texas farmers wanting another cash crop, Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White has the suggestion they investigate the possibilities of growing guar. And now is the time to investigate, for the two processing plants in Texas, at Vernon and Kenedy, are now contracting guar crops, and word from them is that they need about 250,000 more Texas acres planted to guar, White said. He also points out the fact that about 40 million pounds of guar gum were used in the U.S. last year, but only about 10 million pounds were produced in this country. Guar is that stalky plant introduced to this country from India and Pakistan which rotates well with cotton, sorghum, corn, and vegetables.

"It has been described," Commissioner White said, "as being without peer as a soil-improving summer legume and its influence on succeeding crops as truly amazing." Growing guar does not require buying new types of machinery, the agricultural commissioner explains, because it can be planted and cultivated about like cotton, and the guar beans can be harvested with an ordinary grain combine with little adjustment.

And it can be planted on diverted acres (except cotton acres), another factor that makes it more desirable as a Texas money crop, White said. Guar makes a good cattle feed (contains about 35 per cent protein, only slightly less than cottonseed meal), and guar gum usages are legion, including use in explosives, adhesives, paper products, batteries, bakery products, cosmetic lotions, to name a few.

For further information, Commissioner White suggests farmers contact Harold Coombs at Kenedy or Norman Brints at Vernon.

If your boat doesn't have loops to attach minnow buckets or fish stringers, get a few eye-hooks and put them through the gunwale. Just be sure you file the outside threads smooth.

Carving Cues for Lamb

To carve a roast lamb leg, first remove two or three lengthwise slices from the thin side of the leg. Turn roast up on this base. Then starting where shank joins the leg, make slices perpendicular to leg bone. Loosen slices by cutting under them, following closely along top of leg bone. Lift slices to serving platter.
